

Bound To Prevail's brand of Death Metal is influenced by a wide variety of extreme music sub-genres, with each band member bringing their own distinct influences to the songwriting process. Bound To Prevail's core sound fuses aggressive, frantic, pounding rhythmic passages, accentuated by instantly recognizable melodic overtones.

Founded in the fall of 2014, the Maltese band hit the ground running and quickly set their sights on staking a claim on the local underground Metal scene. The band's well-received debut live performance at the Malta 'Xtreme Metal Assault Festival' in the summer of 2016 was quickly followed by a number of shows, including supporting slots for renowned international artists such as Fleshgod Apocalypse and later with Vader, Entombed A.D and Mayhem.

In 2017, Bound To Prevail hit 'XiR Studio' to record their first official EP titled 'Omen Of Iniquity', before making its way to Sweden to be mixed and mastered by renowned producer & engineer Ronnie Björnström at 'Enhanced Audio Productions', who also worked on Aeon and Beheaded releases. The five tracks included in this release perfectly showcase the band's trademark sound.

Bound To Prevail performed live at the 'Deathfest Open Air' 10th Anniversary Edition in Andernach, Germany. The band received immense praise for both the EP and their performance at the festival, which saw them line up with legendary heavyweights such as Suffocation, Cryptopsy and Vital Remains. A number of shows followed that winter, also supporting Dutch Death Metal legends, Sinister.

In March 2018, Bound To Prevail was included on the bill of the 'Blood Stained Earth Tour 2018' as support for Venom Inc., Suffocation, Nervosa, and Aeternam in Manchester, UK. In May, Bound To Prevail also performed at the first edition of 'SinFest', sharing the stage with Hecate Enthroned, Carach Angren and Necronomicon. In late July, the band capped off a string of successful shows by headlining Malta's 'Farsons Beer Festival' 2018 Rock Stage, making them the first Death Metal band to participate in one of Malta's biggest music festivals.

Bound To Prevail kicked off 2019 by being invited to represent Malta at the first ever 'World Metal Congress' in London, England. 'World Metal Congress' is a global gathering celebrating Metal music from around the world, endorsed by Tony Iommi of Black Sabbath, and featuring high-profile speakers and musicians like Barney Greenway from Napalm Death, Kim Kelly from Noisery, Tim Hoffmann from Wacken Open Air Festival and Dom Lawson from Metal Hammer Magazine. The band rounded off 2019 by supporting Suffocation, Belphegor, God Dethroned and Nordjevel for the final date of the 'Europe Under Black Death Fire' tour, and performing at the 'Antitrend' and 'Enter The Eternal Fire' festivals in the Czech Republic.

The travel restrictions following the outbreak of the Covid-19 pandemic, unfortunately, temporarily interrupted Bound To Prevail's plans for further touring in Europe. Determined to keep their momentum despite the unexpected setbacks, the band utilized this time to finish writing their upcoming full-length album. Tracking was completed at 'SpineSplitter Studios' and work is currently underway to mix and master the record.

Bound To Prevail performed at the 2022 'Obscene Extreme', 'MetalDays', and 'Deathfeast Open Air' festivals as well as the 2023 editions of the 'Farsons Beer Festival' and Malta Death Fest festival. Bound To Prevail are actively working to secure additional local and European shows in the near future.
